yesterday i had one win left it was land on chance two times with 320 dice left i landed on chance exactly once if i could get my niece to stop playing i d quit in a heartbeat i m tired of the games from my childhood being used to get kids to rip us off on cell phones now i m tired of the developer doing absolutely nothing about the people who complain about the odds in their game i have screen recordings showing the piece moving too many or too few times based on what was rolled i have screen recordings showing that your minigames are rigged it s a little difficult to claim that it s all random when the same things happen over and over and over again oh and scopely is so shady that they make you jump through flaming hoops to contact their customer service their sugary responses are insulting
